From the creature comfort of a campfire, to the rock and rubble of the off-track, our outdoor experts Ben and Lauren sit down with Brendan Raets to chat Operation Flinders. Trekking up to 100 kilometres of barren, sunbaked tracks - roughly 70 kilometres north of Adelaide - the young adventurers of Operation Flinders also take part in bushcraft, Indigenous culture, and abseiling.

Brendan details how he and his team travel the red, rugged roads of Outback Australia with them, transforming their lives far from the metropolitan maze.
